Boris Gallery in West Hollywood, CA will be the first to exhibit a collection of Guest action paintings created onstage with renowned saxophonist, and former Miles Davis side-man Kenny Garrett and other performers traveling through Asia and Europe.

Roland S. Jefferson releases the new novel White Coat Fever in May 2009. The highly anticipated saga of a 1960's black America at a pivotal time in history when Motown, jazz and the civil rights movement defined an entire generation ...and four young people are plunged into the center of a raging conflict between political idealism and the relentless preoccupation about color, class and romantic entitlement.....

Royce Jefferson's debut novel, "Gray Collar Crimes," is a contemporary crime thriller set in the world of identity theft, bank fraud and high finance money laundering. But not pulled off by the already rich and famous, but by a seemingly nondescript very bright and clever young Los Angeles mortgage broker. The theme of this novel is simple---how does an inexperienced mortgage broker pull off the biggest white collar crime in the history of American finance and walk away? The answer is really quite simple....by accident! www.GrayCollarCrimes.com
